

We have started holding our monthly meetings in person monthly at Hood River Library and zoom with a presentation.

Several members that feel comfortable are meeting at a local park for spinning each Tuesday and when cold weather came, we secured a room at local senior center. Sometimes the group splits up depending of weather so they can stay local.

Presentations that were done:

November - talk by Chris Thomas -Flitcroft and Cydne Pidgeon, "Preparing to Exhibit Your Handwork".

December- Gift Exchange. Whoever signed up, names were drawn and handmade items exchanged.

January-Judith MacKenzie zoom demonstration

February 14 – batik with Teresa Hepker

March 14 – Jane McLean – critiquing your work for entering into local fairs

April 11 –Guild Challenge –something made with ANWG colors

April 15 & 16th. Family Friendly Fiber Fair..... Event planned using ANWG grant that we won. Had to cancel last year due to Covid.... But as we speak, it is happening. Many demonstrations set up for hands on for all ages. Example: Blending, carding wool; drop spindles (made by group), cardboard loom, knitting and much more. They can try any of these and will have bags of samples to bring home.

Projects done by group:

Dying conference colors.

Felted Dog.

Knitted Hat
