WeGO Guild Report
April 2026

Our long awaited Krokbragd Workshop with Patty Huffer was in November. It was well attended by our guild, and did not disappoint.

In early December, for the second year in a row, we held two fiber sales. The first one was for “Artist Sunday” at Crossroads Art Center in Baker City. The following Saturday, we were featured for the “Artisan Pop-Up” at Art Center East in La Grande. Both events were very successful and well attended. We will probably be doing both sales again next year.

We started the new year with a holiday potluck and white elephant gift exchange in early January. It was nice to have a social event that was not entirely focused on fiber! 😊 A few spouses attended, and everyone had a good time.

This year our guild has decided to study twill structures. Members have been bringing samples to our meeting to show the various forms twill can take. This has been very informative and inspiring.

The programs we have after our business meetings have been diverse and interesting thanks to our talented members. In January we learned how to make a peg loom, we had a demo on weaving transparencies in February, and in March we made Scandinavian Folded Stars from paper. (These can also be made from inkle bands.)

Respectfully Submitted,
